Conductor Stump flies, Ike Bownes, night yard conductor, is quite a groundhog hunter. If it were only bears I am afraid he would lay President Roosevelt in the shade, for the number that he captured last Sunday would certainly put the man with the big stick upon a shelf. Stump with his brother-in-law, Jack O'Dell, went hunting for groundhogs. They caught 3 nice groundhogs, but they caught them no one knows where, for they will not tell. A committee was appointed to go over the ground that Mr. Bownes has covered and to see if any trace could be found where they had been digging. All that was found was a hole about the size of a three cent piece, where Mr. Bownes had been digging all day. The Committee composed of Hon. Junk Mundy, Private Secretary and Treasurer, R. H. Johnson.

Although his condition has been so critical that it was feared that he could not live, R. S. Quigley, superintendent of the Hocking Valley railroad, who is suffering from kidney trouble, and is lying in a sanitarium at Marion, has shown marked improvement in the last two weeks. The physicians and relatives now have hopes of his ultimate recovery and are already planning a short trip for his health as soon as he can get out.

Mr. Quigley is 43 years of age. His illness dates from last August, but he remained at his work until about three months ago when he was advised to remain quiet by physicians. Later he was removed to the Marion sanitarium. His condition was so precarious for a time that all hopes were abandoned but his recovery has been rapid.

Mr. Quigley is very well known in Columbus. He has a large family and resides at 137 Hubbard avenue. He has been connected with the Hocking Valley for 15 years and started as chief clerk to M. S. Connors, general superintendent. He has been on leave of absence since his illness, and will return to his duties as superintendent when he returns.

Oil News.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of The Hocking Gas and Oil Company held at their office in this city on Saturday last, it was decided to sell One Hundred and Twenty Five shares of Stock in addition to that already sold and issued, amounting to about Five Hundred Shares.

The land owners who leased to the Company to have a period of ten days or until May 26, inclusive to subscribe for these additional Shares, no one being allowed to take more than One share for each four shares he already owns; after the ten days are expired any of the 125 shares remaining unsold, will be supplied to outside parties in the order that their subscriptions for the same are filed, until the stock is all taken.

Well informed persons conversant with latest developments in the Bremen field, particularly the "Crossensville" well, say The Hocking Gas and Oil Company "have exceptionally good territory." The timber for derrick is all on the ground for first well, on Scotch Creek, and part of the machinery was shipped in the first of the week.
